

DELAPOST Paris

Delapost Paris is a director-driven full feature design, animation and VFX studio based in the middle of Paris. Natural team players, as a collective of directors they relish working with other directors, creative agencies and production companies, cultivating an intimate creative experience, converting their concept into moving images. These are made with extreme attention to detail and finish by the expert digital craftsmen in our atelier.

Delapost's experience has led them to love being a mid-sized studio. They believe being small is a strength that keeps them more human and sensitive to their customers' needs, providing a better, more personalized service. Delapost believes that a balance between innovative creation, a proven technical pipeline and good client communication is the key to film-production excellence. It's with that philosophy in mind that they have structured their company, giving special attention to each department.

Over time Delapost has gathered, trained and grown their talented creative, technical and production team, which is their pride and future.

THE EXPERTISE OF DELAPOST PARIS'S COLLECTIVE OF DIRECTORS IS IN CREATING VISUALS AND STORIES THAT ARE COMPLEX, CHALLENGING AND REQUIRE A CROSS-PLATFORM DIVERSITY OF SKILLS.

Years making films together gave birth to a perfect cross-generational / cross-media direction team, which developed an outstanding talent for bringing projects to life from start to finish. Their ability as team players allow their directors to work alone, in pairs or all together, depending on the project. Their directors are top artists, storytellers and hands-on craftsmen. Their skills include shooting live action, directing performance, casting, set and character design, 3D and 2D animation, editing and, of course, lots of post-production.
